

ABSTRACT

A process for preparing a lithographic mask, including: making patterns on a plane mask, the plane mask having an SOI structure including a layer of semiconductor material, a buried layer of insulant and a substrate; and transferring the patterns and the mask to a curved support that includes at least one point of non-nil curvature.